Radiation monitors. Radiation monitors. Radiation monitors. The Chemical, Biological, Radiation and Nuclear (CBRN) Delivery Team (DT) are equipment sponsors for radiation detection monitoring equipment. The Authority has a requirement to provide a replacement for its gamma radiation monitoring capability, adjacent to a nuclear powered warship, when berthed at UK authorised berths both in the UK and overseas. A transportable reactor emergency monitoring system (TREMS) is required that should be configurable for use on both deployed berths and permanently installed operation on UK dockside facilities. At deployed berths, one detector unit and one remote display unit will be used. For dockside use, multiple detector units and two remote, concurrent display units will be used. The detector units shall be suitable for placing unattended on a berth by use of tamper proof and theft proofing features. This unit shall be physically robust and capable of operating in a wide range of environmental conditions including extreme weathers. Communication between detector and display units shall be configurable as either wired or wireless. The system shall log data, provide continuous update of current readings at the display unit, and provide function for display of trends in reading. It shall be possible to export the data records and trend data to printer and emergency reporting systems. The in-service support solution shall be for a minimum duration of 5 years, plus the potential for two 5 year extensions. The Authority invites expressions of interest from industry, for the development, demonstration, supply and support of TREMS that can meet the capability. This notice replaces the previously advertised 2009/S 126-183855.

Suppliers interested in working with the Ministry of Defence should register on the MOD Supplier Information Database (SID) Register, available at www.contracts.mod.uk. The MOD SID is a database of active and potential suppliers available to all MOD and UK Defence procurement personnel, and is the main supplier database of MOD Procurement organisations. Please note: the registration and publication of a company profile on the MOD SID does not mean or imply that the supplier has in any way been vetted or approved by the MOD. Suppliers wishing to compete for advertised MOD contracts must respond to any specific call for competition by submitting a separate expression of interest in accordance with the instructions of the purchasing organisation.

The contracting authority considers that this contract may be suitable for economic operators that are small or medium enterprises (SMEs). For avoidance of doubt, the contracting authority points out that no weight will be attached to whether or not an economic operator is an SME in selecting economic operators to submit tenders or in assessing the most economically advantageous tender.

Advertising Regime OJEU: these contract opportunities are published in the Official Journal of the European Union (OJEU) and the MoD Defence Contracts Bulletin. The award of any subsequent contract arising from such requirements is subject to the Public Contract Regulations 2006. GO Reference: GO-2012117-DCB-3660633.
