An additional important aim of this call for tender is to build on the synergies between the different civil protection actors in the participating States, in order to continue ensuring the diversity and richness of the civil protection training programme. The building of such a strong, comprehensive, well-coordinated and more efficient civil protection training programme can best be achieved through cross-border cooperation between the different training providers. This cross-border cooperation in training has assisted in increasing the preparedness level in the Member States in case of a major emergency and will continue better preparing civil protection personnel and experts in cross-border emergencies.
