The work involves, amongst other things, particle measuring in classified cleanrooms, integrity testing of roof filters, control of UFD, safety benches and insulators, measuring and revalidation of clean room ventilation.

Important considerations that affect the purpose of the procurement:

- The premises that will be tested are in daily use, and even if one tries to adapt work/activities whilst the testing is being carried out, it will, due to operational considerations, be necessary for parts of the work to occur in the late afternoons and/or on Saturdays.
- It is also important that the work is carried out during as short a period as possible. In some locations the controls must be carried out in rooms without staff, i.e., 'at rest'.
- All documentation must be suitable for external review and it must be available quickly after the assignment.
- It is also important that the work is carried out during as short a period as possible.
