Insurances.

See Annex G15 — Builder's Insurance Scheme.

Ban on social dumping.

The tenderer is obliged to meet the requirements regarding payment and working conditions in public contracts, dated 8.2.2008.

The contracting authority's right to obtain information.

The contracting authority shall have full authority from the tenderer(s) and sub-supplier(s) for an unlimited number of times to collect information about the matters specified in the authority for collection of information about tax and duties etc., that are annexed to this contract.

The rights and obligations in the authority shall apply from when the authority is signed until six months after the contract has been completed.

Breaches of tax and duty obligations.

The tenderer and any sub-suppliers shall always fulfil their tax and/or duty obligations.

The contracting authority can always check the tenderer's and any sub-suppliers' fulfilment of tax and/or duty obligations.

If the tenderer, in a not insignificant degree, breaches his tax and/or duty obligations, the contracting authority can, after the tenderer has been given a deadline to correct matters, cancel the contract. If the tenderer significantly breaches his tax and/or duty obligations, the contracting authority can cancel the contract without the tenderer being given a deadline to correct matters. The right to cancel does not apply if the demand is formally disputed with a competent authority and the tenderer can substantiate to the contracting authority that the demand is not justified.

If the tenderer's sub-suppliers, in a not insignificant degree, breach their tax and/or duty obligations, the contracting authority can, after the sub-supplier has been given a deadline to correct matters, demand that the tenderer replaces the sub-supplier as soon as possible, at no cost to the contracting authority. The right to demand a replacement does not apply if the demand is formally disputed with a competent authority and the tenderer can substantiate to the contracting authority that the demand against the sub-supplier is not justified. If the tenderer does not replace the sub-supplier that it is obliged to replace, the contracting authority can cancel the contract.

Breaches of the Competition Act.

If it is beyond reasonable doubt that the tenderer has breached the Competition Act §§ 10 or 11, or equivalent provisions, the contracting authority can cancel the contract if this is deemed to be appropriate after a concrete assessment.

If it is beyond reasonable doubt that the tenderer's sub-contractor has breached the Competition Act §§ 10 or 11, or equivalent provisions, the Contracting Authority can demand that the tenderer as soon as possible replace their sub-contractor, without cost for the Contracting Authority. The right to demand a replacement does not apply if the demand is formally disputed with a competent authority and the tenderer can substantiate to the contracting authority that the demand against the sub-supplier is not justified. If the tenderer does not replace the sub-supplier that it is obliged to replace, the contracting authority can cancel the contract.

Before cancellation in accordance with the first section and before the demand to replace a sub-supplier in the second section, the contracting authority shall assess the time that has lapsed since the breach of the Competition Act §§ 10 or 11 occurred, what self-cleaning measures were started from the tenderer or sub-supplier's side and possibly other factors that can be important for the assessment of whether the cancellation or replacement is proportional. If the breach of the Competition Act has directly afflicted or affected Oslo municipality, cancellation will always be seen as proportional.
