Historically the Election Directorate has had large, long-term development contracts for assignments included in the agreement. This is expected to decline somewhat and will be replaced by several operations and further development assignment. The Election Directorate has previously used around 30 000 000 NOK on ICT consultants annually. Future call-offs on the agreement will be dependant on the quantity of assignments, types of assignment, requested competence and budgets.

For DSB there has previously been smaller use of consultants for brief/small assignments around 500 000 NOK-1 000 000 NOK. There are also some large assignments on the horizon, but this will depend on budgets and political priorities. DSB has roughly calculated to use around 5 000 000 NOK on ICT consultants annually.

All call-off estimates on the Framework agreement are dependent on economic and political dispositions and are therefore only a guide.
