VI.3. Additional information

The actual contract value is kept from public access and is therefore not given in the notice. C. f. section V.2.4)

Price per dose (unit price) is the only price element in the contest. FHI considers unit prices to be information of competitive importance to keep secret from whom the information relates, who in this case is Seqirus. The information is therefore subject to client confidentiality. If the actual contract value had been stated in the tender notice, it would have been feasible to calculate the unit price using publicly available information on the number of doses. The actual contract value is kept from public access and is therefore not given in the notice. C.f. the Public Act §13 and the Public Administration Act §13 first paragraph, point 2.

FHI informs that the contract value is higher than the highest threshold value in the public procurement regulations and lower than the procurement's pre-estimated total value ref. section II.1.7)
