There are approximately 21 500 end users within scope and 28 000 devices in circulation which include but are not limited to desktops, laptops, thin clients, tablets and phone devices. The current contracts deliver services to both Defra and the Environment Agency across 371 sites in the UK, of which 161 are offices, 131 stores or depots and the remainder a mixture of both. The service is to be made available to 21 500 staff across the UK.

The End User Environment will be provided to Defra and other organisations in the Core Defra Group (Natural England, The Environment Agency, The Rural Payments Agency, Marine Management Organisation and The Animal and Plant Health Agency

The estimated contract value stated in section II.2.6 is the maximum estimated value. This assumes a 7-year contract term (i.e. it assumes that Defra invokes the two-year extension option) and includes the one-off costs associated with implementation. The estimate also includes provision for optional services, contingency and for growth to allow for any additional Service Recipients who may join the Contract during its term. The maximum value is not guaranteed expenditure and Defra considers that the actual costs of the Contract will be considerably less than the maximum value set out here.

Please refer to the Descriptive Document for further details of the End User Environment procurement and the scope of the Contract.
