- The procurement falls outside the scope of application of the directive

Explanation:

The Norwegian Defence Materiel Agency (NDMA) has entered into a framework agreement with IDS UK for top deck analyses on Fridtjof Nansen class frigates. Based on the contracting authority's surveys, knowledge of the market, and assessments, only IDS UK can deliver for this procurement. In a previous contractual relationship with NDMA, IDS UK developed the data basis that will form the basis for call-offs under the framework agreement. The development of the same data basis, as well as achieving sufficient security clearance and a security contract for any other suppliers would be disproportionately demanding, both in terms of time and cost. In light of this, and pursuant to the Norwegian Defence and Security Procurement Regulations [Norwegian: FOSA] §5-3c, NDMA will enter into a contract with IDS UK after the waiting period has expired via voluntary ex-ante transparency notice.
