II.2.11. Information about options

Options: yes

Description of options:

The contractor shall be in a position to operate the canteen on behalf of the Commission in the following levels of service:

— minimum level of service (Option 1): the Commission envisages that at least one (1) member of staff will be required on site in order to provide this level of service on site. The contracting authority will consider introducing this option when the percentage of staff using the canteen on site is around 20 % or below;

— medium level of service (Option 2): the Commission envisages that a minimum of three (3) members of staff will be required on site in order to provide this level of service. The contracting authority will consider introducing this option when the percentage of staff using the canteen on site is between approx. 20 % and approx. 40 %;

— maximum level of service (Option 3): the Commission envisages that a minimum of four (4) members of staff will be required on site in order to provide this level of service. The contracting authority will consider introducing this option when the percentage of staff using the canteen on site is around 60 % or more.

The following is applicable to all levels of service:

- contributing to the general canteen maintenance on behalf of the Commission. See technical specifications for further details;
- providing hospitality services at the contracting authority's premises to its staff and visitors. See technical specifications for further details.

It is expected that performance of the contract will commence at medium level of service. However, if external circumstances arise, the Commission might require reducing to minimum level of service. The scenario used to calculate the maximum contract price is based on the following assumptions:

- minimum level of service to be possibly in place for 0 months;
- medium level of service to be possibly in place for 24 months;
- maximum level of service to be possibly in place for 24 months.

However, it has to be noted that the above is the current assumption and the actual distribution might differ from it. The procedure for triggering the different levels of service throughout the duration of the contract is outlined in the service contract.

See tender specifications for further details.
