II.1.4. Short description

The authority is looking to secure the services of several suitably skilled, qualified and experienced Authorising Engineers across a range of categories to act as Authorising Engineers (AE).

An authorising is an independent engineer or other appropriately experienced and qualified individual appointed to take responsibility for the effective management of the safety guidance recommended by the Department of Health.

The Authorising Engineer will act as an independent professional adviser to the healthcare organisation. The Authorising Engineer should be appointed by the organisation with a brief to provide services in accordance with the relevant Health Technical Memorandum (HTM). The professional status and role required may vary in accordance with the specialist service being supported. Both Sussex partnership trust and surrey and borders partnership Trust may contract with successful bidders.

II.2.4. Description of the procurement

The Authorising Engineer will act as an independent professional adviser to the healthcare organisation. The Authorising Engineer should be appointed by the healthcare organisation. The Authorising Engineer is a chartered engineer with appropriate experience, whose appointment is the responsibility of the designated person. The person appointed should possess the necessary degree of independence from local management to take action within this guidance including the implementation, administration and monitoring of the safety arrangements defined in BS 7255.

The Authorising Engineer will act as assessor and make recommendations for the appointment of Authorised Persons, monitor the performance of the service, and provide an annual audit to the designated person. To effectively carry out this role, particularly with regard to audit, the Authorising Engineer should be independent of the operational structure of the authority (see also health technical memorandum 06-02).
