II.1.4. Short description

To accommodate the continuing growth of the Airport and the increasing number of disabled travellers requiring assistance at the airport, an opportunity to implement a PRM forecasting tool has been identified in order to further improve the quality of the airport assistance service and support on-going efficiencies into the future.

Aims

- improved accuracy and consistency of long range PRM forecasting and associated resources required for budget setting,
- improved accuracy of daily PRM forecasts and daily resource planning for better tactical deployment of resource,
- on-going automated analysis of 'actual' data to identify potential efficiency gains,
- export forecasts and 'actual' data to further improve the accuracy of general terminal capacity planning projects,
- reduce labour costs associated with generating similar types of forecasts and reports manually,
- allow for simple multi-user access / interface to reduce reliance on a limite.
