— after having checked the presence of Java (available for free on the java.com website) on the post, it is advisable to test in advance the electronic response on the test consultation — with an ADSL connection, the economic operators must allow 3 hours or 4 hours for a fold of about 300 MB and 6 hours or more if the bend exceeds 300 MB (the transmission of a fold depends on the performance of the post used computer, the quality of the network as well as the Internet speed),

— the use of an ethernet cable to access the internet is recommended and the use of Wi-Fi should be avoided, — privilege the location of files locally and avoid the file server on the internal network of the company,

— the economic operator going through a proxy will first have to check with his IT department whether quota is not set for uploading files,
