Title: Test Automation Solution for ETRM Applications

Description: Subject of this procurement is the provision, implementation, integration, further development, maintenance and support of a test automation solution for use within the Energy Trading & Risk Management (ETRM) environment of EnBW Energie Baden-Württemberg AG. The solution shall support the automated execution, orchestration and evaluation of tests for business-critical trading and risk management applications. This includes, in particular, the automation of business processes, test cases, integration scenarios, end-of-day processes, and the validation of system changes, releases, upgrades and migrations within the ETRM application landscape. The solution must be capable of integrating with the existing application environment of the contracting entity and supporting relevant ETRM applications used within the trading business. Services shall be delivered within EnBW-operated environments, including on-premises and privately hosted cloud infrastructures. The scope of services includes, in particular: - Provision of the software solution and the associated licenses; - Implementation, installation, activation, configuration and integration of the solution into the existing EnBW IT landscape; - Configuration, customization, enhancement and further development of the proposed test automation solution to support EnBW's testing requirements and use cases; - Documentation and knowledge transfer; The objective of this procurement is to increase the level of test automation, reduce manual testing efforts, improve software quality assurance, and support the efficient development, operation and continuous enhancement of the ETRM application landscape.
