Options: yes

Description of options:

Integration of project application tool for NI:

Nordic Innovation wants a user friendly and intuitive website and wants to be fully digital with all interested parties. Therefore, NI is investigating the possibility of driving the project application process through the website instead of in another system.

Development of a new website for NordForsk:

In 2019/2020 NordForsk wants a new website, including design and information building and adaptation to the joint CMS. Therefore, this is also a possible assignment for the selected service provider.

Integration of Insights Grants:

In the long-term, NordForsk wants to explore the possibilities for integration with the Insights Grants case and application system (<https://machina.no/produkter/grants/>). This concerns only information from Insights Grants to nordforsk.org, so as not to write to or update in Insights Grants from nordforsk.org.

Integration of Crossref:

NordForsk wants to explore the possibility of integrating Crossref, a portal for research output, to nordforsk.org. As Insights Grants, this is only one way integration where we obtain information from Crossref and use it on nordforsk.org.

Transferring of joint technical platform to Nordic Energy Research:

In the long-term, Nordic Innovation and NordForsk wants to have a joint technical platform with Nordisk Energiforskning [Nordic Energy Research], that is also a subsidiary of Nordisk Ministerråd [the Nordic Council of Ministers], and share premises and joint administration with Nordic Innovation and NordForsk. A possible future assignment for the selected tenderer will therefore be to transfer Nordic Energy Research's current website to Nordic Innovation and NordForsk's technical system.
