List and brief description of selection criteria:

This means that communication activities must be clearly organised, and that tenderers must have a sufficient number of employees with the competence to procure and manage consultants within the requested areas with a high degree of service and quality.

Tenderers must have experience from the dissemination of consultancy services, and must be able to refer to reference assignments where the procurement of consultants (not own employees) was provided within the requested fields, with a scope of procured consultants on a level with what is requested in this framework agreement. Tenderers must have experience from at least three comparable deliveries.

The description must include a statement of the delivery's nature and value, the number of disseminated consultants, date of delivery and recipient (name, telephone number and email address). It is requested that the tenderer highlight assignments over agreements that have only been the dissemination of consultancy services, i.e., not as a tenderer on, for example, a parallel framework agreement.

Note that dissemination of own employees is not sufficient as documentation. There must also be references for the dissemination of consultants who are not employed by the tenderer.
