The contest is for the complete and general delivery of IT operations and related services for Medietilsynet.

Medietilsynet's goal is a cost efficient service contract with a qualified, robust, and suitable tenderer, so that Medietilsynet is able to carry out its assignments. The tenderer must provide good services with the correct and documented quality, and with good reports so that Medietilsynet can follow-up deliveries, quality, and security in an efficient way.

Medietilsynet is an organisation that has continual changes and development. It is therefore a requirement that the tenderer's operating systems have a high degree of scalability, that they are mainly standardised services based on standard products with as little specially developed adaptations as possible, and that the tenderer's operating system is continually being improved.
