Kriterij:

Vrsta: Kvaliteta

Opis: The Utilities Regulations § 7-9 second sections generally states that climate and environmental considerations shall be weighted with a minimum of 30 percent in procurements subject to publication where the award criteria are weighted. However, award criteria can be replaced or combined with climate and environmental requirements in the requirement specifications if this gives a better climate or environmental effect. The selection shall be justified in the procurement documents. In accordance with DFØ's guidance, the assessment depends on a concrete mapping of the procurement's climate footprint and environmental impacts, which measures can affect these, and a comparison of the expected effect when using requirements and award criteria. It is sufficient that the use of requirements produces a marginally better climate or environmental effect. The contract is for the delivery of fruit baskets. Particularly transport and distribution as relevant will be considered for this part of the procurement's climate and environmental impact that tenderers have real possibilities for influencing through the implementation of the contract. The market consists of few relevant tenderers, and Tradebroker's market knowledge suggests that suppliers have largely access to the same systems for zero and low emission transport. An award criteria for transport is therefore assessed to have a limited differentiating effect between the tenderers. Instead of setting concrete minimum requirements for transport, a specific climate and environmental level will be ensured for deliveries throughout the entire contract period, regardless of which tenderer is awarded the contract. Tradebroker considers, on this basis, that the use of climate and environmental requirements in the requirement specifications provides a better climate and environmental effect than taking the same considerations through the award criteria.
